Case No. 4:21-cv-696-DDN

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

This matter is before the Court upon the motion of self-represented plaintiff Kawyn Vincent Simth (registration no. 231811), a pretrial detainee at the St. Louis County Justice Center, for leave to commence this civil action without payment of the required filing fee. ECF No. 2. Having reviewed the motion and the financial information submitted in support, the Court has determined that plaintiff lacks sufficient funds to pay the entire filing fee and will assess an initial partial filing fee of $22.43. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1). Furthermore, based upon a review of the complaint, the Court will stay and administratively close this action pursuant to the Supreme Court case of Wallace v. Kato, 549 U.S. 384 (2007), based on the pendency of an underlying criminal case against plaintiff that arises out of the same facts.

28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1)

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1), a prisoner bringing a civil action in forma pauperis is required to pay the full amount of the filing fee. If the prisoner has insufficient funds in his or her prison account to pay the entire fee, the Court must assess and, when funds exist, collect an initial partial filing fee of 20 percent of the greater of (1) the average monthly deposits in the prisoner's account, or (2) the average monthly balance in the prisoner's account for the prior six-month period. After payment of the initial partial filing fee, the prisoner is required to make monthly payments of 20 percent of the preceding month's income credited to the prisoner's account. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2). The agency having custody of the prisoner will forward these monthly payments to the Clerk of Court each time the amount in the prisoner's account exceeds $10, until the filing fee is fully paid. Id.

In support of the instant motion, plaintiff submitted an inmate account statement. ECF No. 3. A review of plaintiff's account indicates an average monthly deposit of $112.17 and an average monthly balance of $8.77. Plaintiff has insufficient funds to pay the entire filing fee. Accordingly, the Court will assess an initial partial filing fee of $22.43, which is 20 percent of plaintiff's average monthly deposit.

Legal Standard on Initial Review

Under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2), the Court is required to dismiss a complaint filed in forma pauperis if it is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. An action is frivolous if it "lacks an arguable basis in either law or fact." Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 328 (1989). An action fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted if it does not plead "enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007).

"A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief is a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw upon judicial experience and common sense. Id. at 679. The court must assume the veracity of well-pleaded facts but need not accept as true “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements.” Id. at 678 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555).

This Court must liberally construe complaints filed by laypeople. Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 106 (1976). This means that “if the essence of an allegation is discernible,” the Court should “construe the complaint in a way that permits the layperson’s claim to be considered within the proper legal framework.” Solomon v. Petray, 795 F.3d 777, 787 (8th Cir. 2015) (quoting Stone v. Harry, 364 F.3d 912, 914 (8th Cir. 2004)). However, even self-represented complaints must allege facts which, if true, state a claim for relief as a matter of law. Martin v. Aubuchon, 623 F.2d 1282, 1286 (8th Cir. 1980). Federal courts are not required to assume facts that are not alleged, Stone, 364 F.3d at 914-15, nor are they required to interpret procedural rules in order to excuse mistakes by those who proceed without counsel. See McNeil v. United States, 508 U.S. 106, 113 (1993).

The Complaint

Plaintiff is currently a pretrial detainee being held at the St. Louis County Justice Center. He brings this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 on a Court-provided form. ECF No. 1. Plaintiff names the “Circuit Courts of St. Louis” and “County – State of Missouri” as defendants.

In the statement of the claim section of the form complaint, plaintiff alleges the following in its entirety:

On the above date of June 8th 2019, I found some checks outside where I worked at. On June 23rd I g[a]ve them to Mr. Meeks. He pick[ed] me up from work on June 24th of 2019 around 3:00 p.m. We went to the Wellston Food Market 6250 Page. The following camera will show that I had nothing to do with the P.O. Langsdorf murder. The following times are approximate. 16:26:22 hours P.O. Langsdorf DSN 347 is observed entering the parking lot of Wellston Food Market. 16:36:45 hours P.O. Langsdorf exi[ts] his patrol vehicle and enters through the front door. 16:37:35 hours [t]he passenger door of Meeks['] vehicle opens and I exi[]t the vehicle and proceed[] east on Page Avenue.

I have explain[ed] this many times that I had nothing to do with the murder of P.O. Langsdorf. I continue to plea my innocen[ce] of this charge.

Id. at 5. Plaintiff then cites to his underlying criminal case, State v. Smith, Case No. 19SL-CR03858-01 (21st Jud. Cir. 2019).

For relief, plaintiff seeks ten million dollars in monetary damages “for unlawful incarceration, defamation of character, conspiracy against rights, deprivation of rights under color of state law, [and] action for neglect to prevent.” ECF No. 1 at 7.

Discussion

Plaintiff’s claims will be stayed until final disposition of his pending criminal action. The United States Supreme Court has held that in order to recover damages under § 1983 for an unconstitutional conviction or imprisonment, a plaintiff must prove “that the conviction or sentence has been reversed on direct appeal, expunged by executive order, declared invalid by a state tribunal authorized to make such determination, or called into question by a federal court’s issuance of a writ of habeas corpus.” Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 486-87 (1994). A claim for damages regarding a conviction or sentence that has not been invalidated is not cognizable under § 1983. Id. at 487. See also Newmy v. Johnson, 758 F.3d 1008, 1009 (8th Cir. 2014); Sheldon v. Hundley, 83 F.3d 231, 233 (8th Cir. 1996).

In Wallace v. Kato, the Supreme Court observed that it was common practice in § 1983 actions to stay the civil proceedings until the criminal case had ended. 549 U.S. 384, 393-94 (2007). The Court explained that where a plaintiff files a claim before he is convicted, and that claim is related to rulings that will likely be made in a pending or anticipated criminal trial, “it is within the power of the district court, and in accord with common practice, to stay the civil action until the criminal case or the likelihood of a criminal case is ended.” Id. Otherwise, the Court and the parties are left to “speculate about whether a prosecution will be brought, whether it will result in conviction, and whether the impending civil action will impugn that verdict, all this at a time when it can hardly be known what evidence the prosecution has in its possession.” Id. at 393 (internal citation omitted).

Based on the Court’s review of plaintiff’s related underlying criminal case on Missouri Case.net, State v. Smith, Case No. 19SL-CR03858-01 (21st Jud. Cir. 2019), plaintiff is charged with one count of felony murder in the second degree.¹ This charge stems from an incident occurring on or about June 23, 2019, in which plaintiff is alleged to have shot and killed Michael Langsdorf during the perpetration of an attempted theft with another individual. Plaintiff’s underlying criminal case is not currently set for trial. Plaintiff waived his right to a speedy trial on May 21, 2021, and a status hearing is scheduled for October 22, 2021.

The instant § 1983 action is based on the same set of facts and circumstances giving rise to plaintiff’s arrest and the state criminal charges currently pending before the circuit court. Plaintiff’s claims of innocence in this case relate to rulings that “will likely be made in [the] pending or anticipated criminal trial.” Wallace, 549 U.S. at 393. As such, the principles of Wallace v. Kato dictate that further consideration of plaintiff’s § 1983 claims should be stayed until the underlying criminal matter against plaintiff has been resolved through criminal proceedings. See, e.g., Vonneedo v. Dennis, No. 1:17-CV-183 NAB, 2017 WL 5904005, at *2 (E.D. Mo. Nov. 30, 2017)

(staying § 1983 case alleging unconstitutional search and seizure under principles articulated in Wallace v. Kato); Anderson v. Robinson, No. 4:12-CV-967 CAS, 2013 WL 4502598, at *1 (E.D. Mo. Aug. 22, 2013) (same); and Cook v. Desoto Police Dep't Unknown Three, No. 4:20-CV-168-RLW, 2020 WL 3893025, at *2 (E.D. Mo. July 10, 2020) (staying § 1983 case alleging illegal seizure, false arrest, false imprisonment, and excessive force). “Moreover, Plaintiff is acting in this civil case as a pro se litigant, and without the benefit of counsel to guide him and perhaps protect his Fifth Amendment rights which may be implicated if this civil case proceeds with discovery and evidentiary hearings.” Combs v. Nelson, No. 4:09CV00329 SWW, 2009 WL 2044413, at *3 (E.D. Ark. July 10, 2009).

This case will therefore be administratively closed and can potentially be reopened by plaintiff's filing of a motion to reopen after the final disposition of the pending criminal case and any and all appellate and post-conviction proceedings.

Accordingly,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that plaintiff's motion to proceed in forma pauperis [ECF No. 2] is GRANTED.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff shall pay an initial filing fee of $22.43 within thirty (30) days of the date of this Order. Plaintiff is instructed to make his remittance payable to “Clerk, United States District Court,” and to include upon it: (1) his name; (2) his prison registration number; (3) the case number; and (4) that the remittance is for an original proceeding.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that all proceedings in this case are STAYED pending final disposition of the criminal charges, as well as any appeals and post-conviction remedies, in State v. Smith, Case No. 19SL-CR03858-01 (21st Jud. Cir. 2019).

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff shall have thirty (30) days to notify the Court in writing concerning the final disposition of all criminal charges, any appeals and post-conviction remedies, in State v. Smith, Case No. 19SL-CR03858-01 (21st Jud. Cir. 2019).

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this case is ADMINISTRATIVELY CLOSED pending final disposition of the criminal charges against plaintiff. This case may be reopened by plaintiff's filing of a motion to reopen the case after such final disposition.

Dated this 24th day of June, 2021.
